

Endura™

Endura™ feed additive is a comprehensive solution designed to support respiratory health, immune function, and overall performance in both piglets and sows. It addresses critical health challenges during the weaning transition and helps optimize sow reproductive efficiency.

Product line includes Endura™ Sow and Endura™ Pig to support sow and pig performance.

OPTIMIZE SOW EFFICIENCY

Health challenges can have ongoing impacts on sow farm productivity. For example, sick sows tend to eat less, and reduced feed intake during lactation can result in weight loss due to the high energy requirements of milk production. These sows are at risk of taking longer to breed back or requiring multiple services, which may negatively impact reproductive efficiency across the herd as well as your bottom line. Endura™ Sow may promote sow feed intake and reduce non-productive days.¹

SUPPORT FOR PIGLET RESPIRATORY HEALTH AND IMMUNE SYSTEM

Throughout the weaning transition, piglets undergo significant stressors such as transportation, commingling, and switching from sow's milk to dry feed. These factors can negatively impact their immune function, especially as their passive immunity from the sow decreases post-weaning, increasing their susceptibility to respiratory disease challenges.

When challenged, Endura™ Pig supports a weaned pig's respiratory health and immune system. Immune support from Endura™ Pig optimizes a pig's ability to address health challenges and limits the impact of secondary bacterial challenges.²
